Visual Glimpse of Welfare Contribution to Family Members of Bereaved GGESA Members During (2012-2023)

GGESA contributes in cash to family members when a member passes away. The amount is collected from all active members @£10 pound each and handed over to family members of demised person. The amount contributed is in range of £1500 to £4000 to each dead person's family which is significant help to manage the cost of their funeral activities which is given in the above table. In addition to this the executive members and other members participate physically at the funeral procession and other activities which is a great help to them as community members.
